Leading Adelaide travel agent Max Najar was one of the first to point out the potential disaster the coronavirus posed for the travel industry.

His comments have now been backed by the CEO of the European Tourism Industry Tom Jenkins. Here is his quote: "I have worked in this industry for nearly 40 years. In that time there has been the Libyan bombing in 1986, the first Gulf War in 1991, 9/11, the second Gulf War, the financial crisis of 2007/8. I have never seen anything like what is happening now."
